Across the years of time . . . .

Seventy-five years ago this company was founded.

It started at the bottom of the so-called railroad panic.

It went through the Sioux Indian War of 1877, the Spanish-American War of 1898, World War I and World War II.

It outsmarted the Gold Panic of 1893, the Money Panic of 1907, the Deflation of 1921 and the Great Depression of the thirties.

Then there were the economic changes when the railroads superseded the canals; when the airways and the highways began to close in on the railroads.

There was the change from horse-drawn to motor-driven vehicles; electricity superseded steam; electric lights took the place of oil lamps; radios replaced the gramophone.

Today, as in 1873, the activities of Shepard's Citations reflect an alert recognition of current problems. Shepard's Citations will be even more "Indispensable" in 2048 than in 1948.

Nearly Half as Old as Uncle Sam

We are 75 years old—nearly half as old as Uncle Sam. And, like our Country, we have developed in every way during those eventful years

From modest beginnings, the organization has grown into one of the largest and most efficient law publishing institutions.

We are publishing a record of the case and statute law which lawyers, law librarians and judges need more and more as the pace of life grows swifter.

In fact, our business in life is to relieve our subscribers of an essential task they no longer have time to perform.

We shall devote all of our time and resources in the future as in the past to provide a complete and up-to-date citation system on the most economical basis possible

This Tax Can Be Repealed Without An Act of Congress

Your own tax experts probably never suspected its existence. Yet law offices have discovered that they're paying it.

Do not carry this extra tax law voluntarily,—at any time. It is a tax you can't ignore—your adversary won't let you.

What is this tax? It's the tax imposed by inefficient work—the waste due to inadequate control systems.

Under pressure many law offices have discovered they're paying this needless tax.

It can be repealed the same way as streamlined production methods, reduced costs and simplified systems turned waste into efficiency.

Shepard's Citations and its staff of analysts and specialists have effected savings amounting to several thousands of dollars for many of America's leading law offices as well as government agencies.

Would you like to see an actual illustration? Write for a copy of "How to Use Shepard's Citations" (75th Anniversary Edition). No obligation, of course.
