RECENT ADDITIONS AND AMENDMENTS TO THE SOCIAL SECURITY LAWS

INTRODUCTION

The following three contributions are excerpts from talks given by the authors at the recent Social Security Forum, presented by the Milwaukee District Offices of the Social Security Administration, U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The forum was held at the Milwaukee Vocational and Adult Schools on November 15, 1956.

These excerpts are presented to the readers because the Law Review Board feels that they will aid the practicing attorney in advising his clients as to what benefits they might or might not be able to expect as the result of recent changes in the Social Security laws. Social Security benefits are becoming an increasingly important factor in the financial position of every person to whom they apply.

Further information may be obtained by forwarding any inquiry to a Milwaukee District Office of the Social Security Administration.
